

CHRISTOPHER PENN

Christopher Penn has been a client and collector of 20th Century British art for many years, buying well not only from us but from many reputable London galleries. He has always demonstrated a sensible and long-term vision of the art market and has, over that time, built up a collection of genuine quality and taste.

Christopher has a rare understanding for collecting and an important realisation of picture appreciation and modern art history.

We have always felt that Christopher demonstrates a genuine passion for art and I would have no hesitation in recommending him as a consultant to advise others..

We would always be happy to do business with him, and will always try to give him the benefit of the best terms that we can.
