

CHRISTOPHER PENN

Christopher Penn has been an active and successful collector of 20th Century British art for many years. He has frequently bought ahead of the market and has, over that time, built up a collection of real quality.

He has a rare enthusiasm for collecting and a tenacity which has, on occasions (and to the frustration of galleries such as this!), enabled him to buy privately, or directly from the artists themselves.

Christopher has a sound knowledge of the work of the period, and the artists who produced it. He also has a good feel for the market and I would have no hesitation in recommending him as a consultant to advise other collectors.

We would be happy to do business with him, and will always try to give him the benefit of the best terms that we can.
